

Full-service partner management solution to facilitate your interconnect needs.

Syniverse Interconnect Partner Management

Interconnect represents a significant portion of an operator's business. For this reason, understanding and controlling interconnect variables is critical to wholesale profitability. But with the high costs and operational complexities of in-house systems, managing this business can be difficult.

Syniverse Interconnect Partner Management facilitates your trading relationships with operators around the world, providing an extensive range of services that include integrated reference data, tariff maintenance, flexible rating and invoicing, and comprehensive reporting. With our cloud-based solution, you'll benefit from a high-quality interconnect billing system supported by powerful business intelligence tools, without the cost of ownership and additional resource funding.

Benefits

- Reduces the need for investment in hardware, software, people, project resources and specialist knowledge by utilizing our cloud-based service
- Ensures revenue through advanced business intelligence and effective control tools, including margin analysis reporting
- Controls and enhances the operational efficiency of your interconnect business by providing these benefits:
 - Improving rating quality
 - Reducing revenue leakage through proactive monitoring and the correcting of error traffic
 - Accelerating the adoption of new rating scenarios, reducing time to market for both your retail and wholesale services
 - Freeing your resources to focus on your interconnect wholesale business and your partner relationships
